But Many on That Side of the Senate are Earnest Friends of Our—An Interesting Story of the Hawaiian Troubles Told by Swineburne.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Senator Faulkner, chairman of the territorial committee, since his return, has conferred with a number of senators with a view of pressing, at an early day, the Utah statehood bill. He thinks there will be no difficulty and will endeavor to have the bill put to the front, so that it may be disposed of before the tariff question comes up.

Senator Platt is expected to continue his opposition, and most of the work against Utah will be done by the republicans, but there are many of that side of the senate who are earnest friends of Utah.

THE STORY TOLD BY SWINEBURNE. WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Lieutenant-Commander Swineburne, of the Boston, was the only witness before the senate sub-committee of investigation of the Hawaiian question today. He is the officer who had active command of the American troops on shore in Honolulu at the time of the revolution, and his testimony is considered important, as it bears upon some points which have been in dispute, and to which much importance is attached. He was questioned concerning the landing and the location of the troops in Arion hall and the time of the surrender of the station house. He was also asked to explain how the troops changed to locate at Arion hall, and was reminded of the charge made by Blount & the friends of the queen that, of all place, this was

How Mrs. Grannis Voted. The New York woman who always tries to vote was at the polls last election morning at exactly 9:30, and the remarkable thing about it was that she did vote too.

It was Mrs. E. B. Grannis, and she was accompanied by another woman who wanted to see just how it was done, and if any of the terrible things which men are always predicting will happen would really come to pass when a woman voted. Mr. Bartlett, brother of Mrs. Grannis, also went along.

The woman expected that jeers, cat calls, insults and jestings would be her lot. But instead thereof every man stepped aside respectfully for the small, determined woman to pass, and there wasn't a loud word that referred to a woman uttered.

The polls where Mrs. Grannis went were on Fourth avenue, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets. Once inside the charmed inclosure—in other words, the barber shop—Mrs. Grannis politely preferred her request for the privilege of casting a vote.

"I am very sorry," said one of the men, "but as a servant of the public I am here to obey orders. I think, though, that women ought to vote, and if I had my way would help them to do so."

"If all the women would do as you are doing," spoke up another, "I think they would have the ballot in a short time. They would convince men that they were in earnest and really wanted it."

Then Mrs. Grannis voted her ticket. She didn't put it in the slot herself. Her brother did that. But it was her ticket from beginning to end, and her brother did not know what was on it till he put it in.

"My brother," said Mrs. Grannis, "has agreed to give me his vote every other year because he knows that I am a property holder—that I want the right of the ballot, and he feels keenly the injustice of the thing. We are opposite in our politics, which makes his unselfishness in the matter very apparent."—New York Recorder.

Miss Hildegard Werner is the latest musician to appear before Queen Victoria. She is a Swede who studied the piano forte at Stockholm and the violin in Paris. She is a journalist and writes musical news for several papers. King Oscar of Sweden has just conferred on her a gold medal.—Stockholm Letter.

Contingent Fund $1,000.—To Out Out the Utah Commission—$1,000 for the Needy.—The County of Carbon—Minimum Liquor License—Public Printer.

The Douglass-Robertson contest has been heard and thoroughly discussed by the house committee on elections and a decision is looked for at any time. From the fact that Messrs. Allen, Johnson and Clark are the majority members of the committee it is not difficult to surmise that their report will be in favor of the unseating of Robertson and giving Douglass a certificate and a seat, as the republicans need another member to give them the two-thirds necessary to apply the gag rule by carrying the previous question.

In both houses there was no particular debate and everything went off smoothly.

The council did what was expected in weekly accepting the non-concurrence of the house in the "free trade" amendment that was tacked onto the memorial asking for the remonetization of silver. Seaman did attempt to make a point by having the memorial state "demonetization in 1873," but the others were content to let the matter drop. The council also cut down the appropriation for contingent expenses from $2,000 to $1,000. Williams introduced a measure designed to validate all bonds issued under the school law of 1892. Breiden, apparently undismayed by the killing of his two pet "workmen's" measures, has entered upon a campaign to reform the municipal procedure regarding arguments of counsel and quelling of causes of action.

In the house Varian introduced a bill designed to give work to the needy and appropriating therefor the sum of $1,000. Allen introduced a bill to give back the election machinery to the probate courts and county

The Age of Senator Harris.

The exact age of Senator Harris is a profound mystery. He repeatedly refuses to state the date of his birth in the Congressional Directory. This is only one of his eccentricities, but it is his strongest. I asked Representative Patterson of Memphis once how old his friend really was. If any one should know it, he should know it as well as any man in congress. Patterson shook his head sadly. "If Harris were to die tomorrow," he said, "I do not believe any one could tell his age to the marble cutters. In Tennessee we figure this way," he said, laughing; "we know that he went on the duellfield with Andrew Jackson in 1808—at least this has never been denied. He was a man then and supposed to have some gray hairs at the time. A conservative estimate would make him out to be about 150 years of age."—Washington Cor. Augusta Chronicle.

the one best calculated to serve the purposes of the provisional government, being located just across a narrow street from the government building, where they would prove a menace to the queen's forces. It is understood that Swineburne admitted that a more fortunate selection could have been made and said he had previously to landing, advised that some other place be chosen.

In the main, however, his testimony corroborated the statements of Minister Stevens and the officers of the provisional government. He contended there had not been any conspiracy involving the naval force. Swineburne was also reminded of the discrepancies in the statements concerning the time of the surrender of the station house, and said this occurred two or three hours after the landing of the Boston's troops, or about 7:30 p. m.

Popular Everywhere. Beginning with a small local sale in a retail drug store, the business of Hood's Sarsaparilla has steadily increased until there is scarcely a village or hamlet in the United States where it is unknown.

Today Hood's Sarsaparilla stands at the head in the medicine world, admired in propriety and envied in merit by thousands of would-be competitors. It has a larger sale than any other medicine before the American public, and probably greater than all other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers combined.

Such success proves merit. If you are sick, is it not the medicine for you to try? Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

J. R. TWELVES of this city, court commissioner for the First District court, yesterday filed his report with the legislature at Salt Lake city. The total receipts for 1892 and 1893 were $80,987.28, and the disbursements for the same period were $31,061.27, leaving a balance on hand of $49,926.01. The receipts for 1892 were $14,207.61. The receipts for 1893 were $12,979.67, and the disbursements $11,769.59.

Girls' Cricket Club.

It is intended to form a girls' cricket club in connection with the South London Polytechnic. Miss Helen Smith, B. A., the lady superintendent, maintains that the game is better for girls than tennis, being much more educational.

Then the Audience Smiles.

"Yes," said the irrepressible interviewer to a little lot of admirers, "I have been hounded by most of the celebrities of the day. I have shaken hands with Mr. Gladstone, dined with the Marquis of Salisbury, taken wine with the Duke of Devonshire and chatted with Mr. Chamberlain about his orchids. I have met several royal dukes at garden parties. I have exchanged opinions about the weather with dozens of M. P.'s. I have interviewed most of the celebrated divines, statesmen, scholars and athletes."

"But you have omitted to mention," said a quiet voice somewhere behind the crowd, "that you have had the extreme honor of being kicked out of his house by a certain noble boxing man!"

And then the audience—but see heading.—Judy.

Ran on the Water.

A noted public man was accused some time ago of a want of patriotic spirit in trying to get out of the leadership of his party. His accuser said in a public meeting: "What did he do, Mr. Chairman, when he found the ship was sinking? Did he nail his colors to the mast and stand by the old flag? No, sir, he got out and ran away."—London Tit-Bits.

officers and to carry on all elections under the old laws, slightly amended. Hatch presented a bill to make the county of Carbon out of all that part of Emery county lying north of the third standard parallel, and another one relating to the practice of medicine. Tolton introduced a bill to make $400 the minimum liquor license in cities of the third class, towns and precincts. Pignman sent in his boiler inspection bill.

The presentation to both houses of a petition protesting against the election of J. B. Bloor to be public printer, attracted some attention. The report of the printing committee was not received, though expected in the two chambers.

Curew Kings Every Night.

Like many of the old New England towns, Newburyport, Mass., retains some puritanical customs. Her announcements are made by a crier in the streets, and to strangers this crier is indeed a curiosity. Now the ringing of the curfew has been revived. This old custom was continued here without interruption till about 12 years ago, the city paying the expense of ringing the 9 o'clock bell in two or more churches, but it became a custom of the past.

Not again until Monday evening was curfew sounded in this city. Then the people residing in the vicinity of the Old South church were somewhat startled to hear the old bell ringing. On investigation they ascertained that a prominent member of the parish had obtained permission from the church to have the bell rung every night at 9 p. m., he to employ a man to carry out his desire.—Cor. KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers, and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all drug gists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
